NEW YORK, July 24.—Gold [illegible]; money [illegible] and steady. Stocks closed dull and better.

[illegible] Democratic Nominating Convention.

[illegible] ROUGE, July 24.—The Democratic State [illegible] to-day. Judge [illegible] Taylor, of [illegible] was temporary chairman. The delegates [illegible] night session and the speedy transaction [illegible]. Among the prominent candidates for [illegible] were Frank Nicholls, of Assumption, [illegible] L. A. Wiltz and Jno. McEnery.

WASHINGTON CITY.

[illegible] to Drive Tilden from the Ticket.

[illegible] Washington dispatch says: The devices with which the Western soft money men [illegible] their project of repealing the resumption act obviously reveals their object, which is [illegible] other than to drive Tilden from the ticket. [illegible] that there are those who are opposed to Tilden [illegible] in the party and will not hesitate [illegible] that will embarrass or cripple him [illegible] to-night is that they may succeed [illegible] denied, but what Hendricks has [illegible] this movement very recently and since [illegible] with Tilden at Saratoga. It is a plain [illegible] Hendricks can't make up his mind to be [illegible] of the ticket.

Changing the Platform.

[illegible] July 23.—A Washington special to the [illegible] that Mr. McPherson, in examining the [illegible] of the Democratic platform adopted at [illegible], in order to prepare a correct copy of his [illegible], has discovered two changes in the [illegible] read at St. Louis which are giving the [illegible] much annoyance. The first one is in the [illegible] currency plank, in [illegible] the part which [illegible] the charges [illegible] by the Republican party had always impeded the return [illegible] payment, which was read as follows: [illegible] we denounce as the resumption [illegible] and we here demand its repeal." In [illegible] copy [illegible] prepared the word "clause" [illegible] "date." Altogether [illegible] the repeal demanded was of the entire resumption [illegible], and as this has been liberally [illegible] it is at once in a way to simply make it [illegible] for resumption without [illegible] of the act it naturally caused [illegible]. The other change is in the official copy as to [illegible] plank [illegible] report of the proceedings that when [illegible] read the Chinese plank he omitted that [illegible] he said was in pencil and which he [illegible] not read, but that the clerk who did [illegible] the rest. [illegible] California [illegible] was complied with [illegible] should be [illegible] importation [illegible] were part [illegible] that this should [illegible] a part of it. The plank has [illegible] entire.

[illegible] to be Reported Repealing the Resumption Act.

NEW YORK, July 24.—[illegible] banking and currency committee at their [illegible] upon a [illegible] providing for the [illegible] of the resumption clause of the [illegible]. The defection of Wise [illegible] with his Democratic [illegible] will give a majority of [illegible] repeal without [illegible] is not [illegible] committed the repeal of [illegible] day for resumption [illegible] by a declaration [illegible] day. He has [illegible] not offer [illegible] repeal the [illegible] declares [illegible] special [illegible] Holman and [illegible] finance. [illegible] man is so earnest for repeal that it is possible he [illegible] submit [illegible] his declaration [illegible] to make the friends [illegible] the contemplated saving clause with [illegible]. Wike has [illegible] committee [illegible] support the bill [illegible] House should the bill be [illegible] for repeal. [illegible] excuses [illegible] are clamoring for repeal and that the Democratic party [illegible] repeal at St. [illegible] has [illegible] in reporting a bill to the House. The express [illegible] belief that the repeal bill cannot be checked this session [illegible] of the committee who will [illegible] reporting a repeal bill are Cox, Payne [illegible] and Burchard and Wike. The constitution of the committee. It was reported that Goode from a sense of propriety and decency would not act with the committee on so important a matter when the decision will turn [illegible] vote [illegible] continuing [illegible] committee on elections having reported that he was [illegible] fully returned and that the place he is now filling in Congress rightfully belongs to Platt. Goode will however not be governed by such feelings and announces his determination to attend the meeting of the committee and cast his vote which will bring the repeal bill before the House. There seems to be no chance for miscarriage of the scheme to get the bill into the House, but its chances there are at the least doubtful. It is quite certain that with a full House the repeal will not be carried; nearly one hundred members are absent and it is purely a matter of chance whether the proportion of friends and the opponents of the repeal bill are equally divided among absentees. The action is of little consequence beyond its effects on the canvass. The bill could not be passed in the Senate and could not in any event become a law.

Contested Election.

The contested election case of Goode vs Platt comes up this week. It is well known the latter was fairly elected and only crowded out by a quibble technicality. The minority of the committee reject from the canvass of votes ballots in [illegible] and Bland townships in Prince George county which if counted give the election to Platt. The whole case therefore turns upon counting or rejecting of these townships. The minority reject these votes because the ballots instead of being sealed as the law directs by the judges of election, of whom one conveys them to the county clerk, but were in one case sewed up in a paper bag and in the other locked in a box. They were secured in this manner because no wax or mucilage or even flour for making paste was to be found when the counting of ballots ended. The testimony shows that the election was fairly conducted in both townships, and that the judges of election were nearly all Democrats, and that the returns were conveyed to the county clerk by Democrats, one of whom in deed swore that he would be rejoiced if by any error of his Goode should get the seat instead of Platt.

Important Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The following very important bill has been agreed upon by the House mines and mining committee and in a regular order of business will be brought before the House for action next Wednesday. It embraces in a bill all of the main features of the measure introduced by Banks of Massachusetts two months ago, sundry provisions for reviving the old silver dollar with unlimited legal tender power. Its passage is strenuously urged.

An editorial published in the Sunday Herald, the accredited Washington organ of the Democracy, to-day demands its passage, both as a matter of justice and of party necessity. It will doubtless pass the House by a large majority unless parliamentary tactics prevent its consideration this session, which its friends do not think possible. It is entitled a bill to utilize the product of gold and silver mines and for other purposes. Be it enacted etc. that coin notes of the denomination of fifty dollars and multiples thereof up to ten thousand dollars may in mode hereinafter provided be paid by the several mints and assay offices at San Francisco, Carson City, Philadelphia and New York for the net value of the gold and silver bullion deposited therewith and of the bullion thus received not less than seventy five per centum in coin or fine bars shall at all times be kept on hand for redemption of the coin notes, gold for gold and silver for silver. The gold deposited shall be computed at its coining value and silver at the rate of 412 8-10 grains standard silver to the dollar, less the lawful mint charges and such charges for transportation from the assay offices to the mints for coinage and from the latter to the assistant treasurers respectively at which the coin notes shall be payable, and there shall be coined at the mints of the United States the silver dollar herein before mentioned. Third—The Secretary of the Treasury shall from time to time cause coin and fine mint bars stamped to be transferred from the mint to the assistant treasurers at San Francisco and New York in such amounts as may be necessary for the redemption of coin notes. Fourth—The coin notes thus issued shall be receivable without limit for all United States duties and the coin mentioned in this act shall be legal tender for all debts public and private not specified to be paid in gold coin. Fifth—The gold notes issued according to this act shall be redeemed on presentation in gold coin or fine bars and silver to silver in bars or fine bars. Sixth—The coin notes authorized by this act to be issued shall be prepared under the direction of the secretary of the Treasury and be transferred to the above named mints and assay offices as a part of the bullion fund, and from which fund deposits shall be paid for in coin or notes at the option of the depositor. Seventh—The fine gold and silver bars herein afterward to be issued shall bear the mint stamp of fineness, weight and value, and the value of gold bars is to computed according to their coining rate and of silver bars according to their coining value in [illegible] lar. The Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe the necessary regulations for carrying the follo[illegible] provisions into effect.

Postal Changes for the Pacific Coast.

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—Name changed: [illegible] Pacific county, Washington Territory, to Ilwaco, and James D. H[illegible] appointed postmaster. [illegible] masters appointed: [illegible] county, Oregon; Henry Gans, Oswego, Clackamas county, Oregon; Nicolas Lacroix, Sublimity, Marion county, Oregon; [illegible] Seattle, W. T.; Jas. H. Purdin, Selah, Yakima county, W. T.; Mrs. Elizabeth P. [illegible], Summer, Pierce county, W. T.

The Leader of the Whites at Hamburg, S. C., Writes another Letter.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Gen. M. C. Butler, the leader of the whites in the Hamburg massacre, has written another elaborate letter defending himself. This letter is particularly abusive of the negroes and speaks in very light terms of the actual massacre.

Confirmation by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The Senate has confirmed Thos. B. Shannon collector of customs, San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The Senate in executive session to-day confirmed the following nominations: T. J. Brady of Indiana, Second Assistant Postmaster General; Mason Brayman, of Wisconsin, governor of Idaho.

Bills Signed.

The President signed the silver bill and the army appropriation bill.

Proceedings of Committees.

The House committee on banking and currency had a protracted meeting without any result to the matter of the repeal of the resumption act. The members express themselves determined to come to some conclusion on the question to-morrow. It is understood that the real estate pool committee's report will not contain a resolution of impeachment of Robeson. While strongly condemning the secretary the report will ask that the testimony be turned over to the judiciary committee and be considered in conjunction with that taken by the committee on naval affairs.

No Disagreement between the President and Attorney-General Taft.

Alluding to the sensational reports that the President had issued a pardon for ex-chief clerk Avery without waiting the action of the Attorney General, the latter says to-day that it was a pure invention gotten up to hurt the administration. There is no conflict nor difference of opinion between the President and Judge Taft on this or any other of the whisky cases and the former will not only in accordance with the recommendation of his legal advisers.

Probable Adjournment of Congress on Monday.

It is thought that a final adjournment can be had next Monday.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE SIOUX.

Indians Surprised and Defeated.

NEW YORK, July [illegible].—The Herald's special from [illegible] the Fifth Regiment of Cavalry [illegible] thirty miles southwest [illegible] who were [illegible] in which Yellow Hand was killed by Buffalo Bill. The Indians [illegible] for the reservation, [illegible] leaving behind their provisions. Merritt [illegible] them all night when the whole command went into camp at the agency. The Indians [illegible] admit having [illegible] six ponies. Their friends at [illegible] say they never learned that the Fifth Cavalry [illegible] got there in time to head them off. The [illegible] and leaves for Crook's camp to-morrow.

Plan of Campaign.

Sherman will remain at Washington directing the [illegible] providing means [illegible] success of the expedition. The plan of campaign which has been determined upon is to make a combined movement of three columns, with Fort Ellis as base, two of the columns will move directly against the Indians and one against their villages.

Sheridan will, according to the present plan, establish headquarters in the field at some advantageous point on Goose creek, at or forty miles north west of Fort Phil Kearney and near the scene of Crook's battle on the Rosebud on the 17th of June. The force of these three columns will amount in the aggregate to between 7000 and 4000. As a war Sherman says it will be stubborn and bloody; that the Indian chiefs will naturally have a choice of positions and that in order to fight them it will be necessary to meet them whenever they offer battle or wherever they can be caught. Judging from what is well known of Indian character, he does not think that they will fight unless they have the advantage both in position and numbers, and as a consequence it must be expected that the United States troops will suffer a great disadvantage.

More Troops to the Front.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The last of the new detachments sent to reinforce the other troops engaged in fighting the Sioux are now on their way westward. Gen. Sheridan by a judicious distribution of troops stationed on the seaboard has been able, notwithstanding the present numerical weakness of our army, to respond promptly to the calls of Sheridan for reinforcements at [illegible] numbers will be needed to push the Indian war to a successful conclusion.

Sheridan to Command in the Field.

Sheridan reports from Chicago that everything is making satisfactory progress and that active operations will be resumed within a few weeks. It is officially reported here that as soon as necessary arrangements are made and supplies forwarded, Sheridan will take the field and personally superintend the movements of the troops as he did in his successful campaign in 1868 against the Cheyennes and Comanches between the Platte and Red River of the South.

Crook and Terry as Indian Fighters.

He says that Crook and Terry have no superiors as Indian fighters and if they get anything like fair play they will make it very warm for the warriors on Big Horn. Sherman estimates the fighting strength of the Sioux now in arms at 2500 and it is the settled purpose of the Administration to make the punishment of the Sioux for their present hostility one never to be forgotten by that yet powerful nation.

Dispatches from Gen. Crook.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The following dispatches received by Gen. Sherman from Crook have been transmitted for general information:

Gen. Merritt will reach here [illegible] Crook's camp on August 1st with ten companies instead of eight as at first contemplated. Gen. Terry has moved his depot from north of Powder river to the Big Horn, on Rosebud, and has notified me of his intention to form a junction with Crook.

PH. SHERIDAN, Lieutenant-General.

Hd'qrs Big Horn and Yellowstone Expedition,
CAMP ON GOOSE CREEK, WY., July [illegible].
VIA FETTERMAN, July [illegible].

To Gen. Sheridan, Chicago—I sent in a courier to day to carry duplicates of my dispatch to General Merritt for fear the originals may not reach their destination. Just as courier Gen. Terry to-night to inform him I will co-operate with him and when to find me, also giving what information I have in regard to the Indians. It is my intention to move out after the hostiles as soon as Merritt gets here with the 5th cavalry and shall not probably send in another courier unless something special should require me to do so. I am getting anxious about Merritt's ability to reach me soon as the grass is getting very dry and the Indians are liable to burn it at any time.

(Signed) GEO. CROOK, Brig. Gen.

The Indian War.

General Sherman does not think there will be a decisive fight with the Indians much before the middle of August. The officer at the army headquarters are very busy with preparations. General Sherman by a judicious distribution of the troops doing duty on the Atlantic seaboard has been able, notwithstanding the limited forces at his command, to respond to the calls of General Sheridan for more troops. This will enable him to renew the operations of the army in the savage country with increased vigor and [illegible]. The [illegible] of the detachments are on their way westward. In the meantime Lieut. Gen. Sheridan reports from Chicago that everything is [illegible] satisfactorily and [illegible] will be in shape for [illegible] operations in a few weeks. According to official intelligence received at headquarters here as soon as the necessary preparations have been made and supplies forwarded Sheridan will take charge and superintend the operations of the troops in person as he did in his winter campaign of [illegible] against the Cheyennes, Kiowas, Arapahoes and Comanches between the Platte and Red river of the south.

Speaking of the war Gen. Sherman says it will be stubborn and bloody. The Indian chieftains will naturally have the choice of position and to fight them it will be necessary to take them where they can be found and whenever caught. They will not fight if they can help it unless they have advantage of ground and numbers and as a consequence we must suffer losses. He says Crook and Terry have no superiors as Indian fighters and if they get anything like a fair chance they will make it warm for the warriors of Big Horn. He estimates the fighting force of the Sioux now in arms at 2500.

Indian Agencies Turned Over to the Military.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Red Cloud and Spotted Tail agencies have been turned over to the military by the Indian commissioner.

Great Destruction of Life by a Water Spout.

A dispatch from Eureka, Nevada, says about nine o'clock last night a cloud burst on the Diamond Range mountains thirteen miles east of here, which resulted in the death of thirteen Chinese wood choppers and probably a large number of Italians camped in a canyon getting out timber. Without a moment's warning a column of water twenty feet high rushed upon them, drowning all but one Chinaman. The Italians were camped a short distance below and as no trace of them can be found it is feared all perished.

Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—A fire broke out about 1 o'clock near Market and Eleventh streets burning a grocery store, a wood and coal yard and half a dozen small dwellings occupied by laboring people. The spread of the flames was so rapid that scarcely anything could be saved and the fire was with difficulty prevented from sweeping the whole block. Most of the buildings and contents were of small value.

Merchants' Action on the Silver Question.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—Pursuant to call a meeting of retail merchants was held at Dashaway Hall this morning to consider the silver question. About thirty were present, mostly dry goods men. A resolution was adopted making gold the basis of transactions and taking silver only at the ruling market rates. The meeting could hardly be considered representative of the general retail business, but a committee of ten was appointed to canvass the city and obtain signatures to the resolution.

Hayes and Wheeler Campaign Opened in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—The Republican county committee met this evening, and decided to call primary meetings at an early day to choose delegates to the coming State convention.

The Hayes Invincibles have hired Agricultural Hall for the campaign and fill it nightly with an enthusiastic crowd.

An Infamous Scamp Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—A man calling himself John Lawless was arrested to-day on a charge of procuring young girls to [illegible] a life of shame. The arrest was made on the complaint of a young girl, one of his victims, who arrived to-day on the Idaho. When taken in charge by the officer he tore up some paper and threw them away, which on being put together proved to be the letters of a woman named Jennie Savage, keeper of a house of ill repute in Portland, Or., to him to send her girls quick as she wanted them for the centennial week and not to send any more such young ones as heretofore. Lawless was locked up for examination.

Hayes and Wheeler Club Organized.

[illegible], July 24.—The Republicans of this place organized a Hayes and Wheeler club [illegible] to-night. Eighty five signed the roll. The meeting was very enthusiastic. Preliminary steps have been taken to organize a club in every precinct in the county.

Terrible Explosion.

[illegible], July 24.—A terrible explosion occurred here to-day at [illegible] Black Diamond Coal Co.'s works resulting in loss of life to six persons and the [illegible] five others. The explosion was [illegible] the ignition of fire damp [illegible] accumulated in the chutes [illegible] from [illegible]. The names of the dead are: Wm. [illegible], Mercutius Lewis, [illegible] wife and five children [illegible] Dav[illegible] [illegible] Dumas [illegible] David Watts and [illegible] Smith [illegible] recovery [illegible] and William Williams [illegible] will probably recover.

The following officers of Dor[illegible] Lodge No. [illegible], I. O. O. F. [illegible] were installed [illegible] the 19th inst. by C. B. [illegible] D. D. G. M.: J. B. Irving, N. G.; [illegible] S.; H. M. Brown, Treas.

ERRONEOUS STATEMENTS.

PORTLAND, July 19th, [illegible].

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Some two or more years since I accidentally became in possession of a copy of the Pacific Methodist, which contained an editorial notice that reads as follows: "Rev. J. James, of the Methodist Episcopal church, Washington Territory, has appealed to the General Conference in connection with his removal from the ministry for alleged heterodox teaching." I called the attention of the editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate to the notice with a request to correct the statement, to which he replied that it was now so late he did not think it would do any good. I then prepared the following communication for the Pacific Advocate, which the editor of that paper refused, giving as a reason that he did not think it best for me to open war with the Conference. I then forwarded the communication to the Pacific Methodist, San Francisco.

ERRONEOUS STATEMENT.

Editor Pacific Methodist: My attention has recently been called to a short editorial notice in the Pacific Methodist bearing date of November 11, 187[illegible], which reads as follows:

"Rev. J. James, of the Methodist Episcopal church, Washington Territory, has appealed to the General Conference in connection with his removal from the ministry for alleged heterodox teaching."

Even at this late date and under existing circumstances I feel that such an impression as the above statement is calculated to produce upon the minds of those who are unacquainted with the facts in the case would not only be erroneous but tend to do the Rev. J. James an injustice and should not go uncorrected.

It is true that complaint was made against Rev. J. James by the Presiding Elder for leaving his work, which complaint was referred to a committee who preferred charges of inefficiency and general unacceptability, but heterodox teaching as alleged by the Pacific Methodist and that he be cited to appear before the next Conference for trial. The report of the committee was sustained by a motion that Rev. J. James be granted a location at his own request, which motion prevailed, thus denying him the right of trial. This was the ground of appeal. Mr. James was not present to make such request nor did he authorize any one else to do so for him. Rev. J. James has been a Methodist minister for nearly thirty years, almost continually in the traveling connection, filled the office of Presiding Elder of Grand River District, Missouri Conference, for three years, and among all his acquaintances, for they are many, not only of the M. E. Church but of the M. E. Church South, in Missouri, California and Oregon, not one can say he ever preached or taught either in public or private anything but true Methodist doctrine and the true doctrine of Jesus Christ and Him crucified.

And now after having spent the vigor of his manhood and all his worldly possessions and grown gray in incessant labors to advance the kingdom of our blessed Redeemer among men, having lived his three score years and with tottering limbs and feeble steps toward the grave, to have a body of brethren in his absence to say, "Your labors are inefficient and unacceptable to the people. We will let the old man off as easy as possible by smuggling the report of that committee by granting him a location at his own request, and deny him the right to prove to the world and to the Conference that those charges are without foundation, and then afterwards to be told by the General Conference Committee on Appeals that you have no ground for appeal, and then to have the Conference or its secretary to refuse to recognize him as a local preacher by representing him as such in its minutes of the next succeeding Conference seems to me to be uncharitable and unchristian, to say the least.

C. H. JAMES.

After the appearance of the above article in the Pacific Methodist the editor of the Advocate copies the same and makes the following comments in his issue of July 13th:

"Without expressing any harsh judgment as to the justice or propriety of the above extended correction of an erroneous statement, we wish to state that there are but two points in the case of Father James worthy of consideration, namely, the evil treatment complained of, and the remedy required.

"First, as to the complaint. It is alleged that he was 'located at his own request' and that this was done by the conference with a view of denying him the right of trial. That he was located at his own request is true, but that this was done from any other motive than to gratify what was supposed to be the wish of Father James is a very grave charge, and cannot in the nature of the case be proved. It was stated in open Conference that such was Father James' request, and the Conference acted on it in good faith.

"It turned out afterward that this was a mistake—that such was not his request at all and Father James refused, as we understand it, to accept any certificate of location and took an appeal from the action of the Conference in granting him a location. Now we submit that granting a location to any member of an annual conference at his own request furnishes no ground for an appeal. This was the wrong direction in which to seek for redress. If the Conference made a mistake in its action the remedy was in reconsideration and reversal of its action. Or if Father James should come up to the Conference in the right spirit, present the action of the Conference in locating him and say, 'Here brethren this action of your locating me at my own request was a mistake. I requested no such thing and desire to be restored to my former relation,' the conference in all justice would claim would at once place Father James in the relation he seeks. Then if any one has charges [illegible] against him of inefficiency and general unacceptability, it will be for him to meet them. This is the only true way to remedy the evils of this case. Let this way be fairly tried and then if refused by the conference it will be time enough to arraign the Conference or its secretary for uncharitable and unchristian conduct. We do not believe there is a member of the Conference that wishes for a moment to do the slightest injustice to this worthy veteran of the Cross."

In reply to the above comments, I prepared the following article as a rejoinder for insertion in the P. C. Advocate, which the editor of that paper also rejects, stating as one of his reasons that it would open up a discussion that would not be likely to soon end.

A Rejoinder.

"But Paul said unto them: They have beaten us openly uncondemned, being Romans, and have cast us into prison, and now do they thrust us out privily? Nay, verily; but let them come themselves and fetch us out."—Acts xvi: 37.

Editor P. C. Advocate: In your last week's issue you saw fit to insert an article written by the undersigned to the Pacific Methodist under the caption of "Erroneous Statement," (for which accept our thanks) following it with quite an extended comment, setting forth your views as to the mode of reconciliation (to which we must most respectfully differ), and in justice to myself and to him whose cause I have espoused, I would like to say a few words as a rejoinder.

You commence a little strange as you step forward in the editorial chair for the defense. You say, "Without expressing any harsh judgment as to the justice or propriety of the above extended correction of an erroneous statement." You do not say whether the statement made in the Pacific Methodist be true or false, or that the extended correction be unjust or improper, but say: "We wish to state that there are but two points in the case of Father James worthy of consideration, namely, the treatment complained of and the remedy required." You say that "he was located at his own request is true; but that it was done for any other motive than to gratify what was supposed to be the wish of Father James is a grave charge and cannot in the nature of the case be proved. It was stated in open Conference that such was Father James' request and the Conference acted on it in good faith." By what kind of logic then is it, if the request was not made at all, that you can say "that he was located at his own request is true"?

[illegible] that he was located under [illegible] by [illegible] member of Conference after the address of Rev. I. D. Driver on the committee's report, saying, of the Conference [illegible] would inspect [illegible] Father James [illegible]. The motion was [illegible] the report of the committee [illegible] [illegible] of Conference [illegible] then [illegible] the [illegible] on the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] for an appeal, but in this case there is [illegible] and [illegible] the Conference. The [illegible] of that motion to locate will not [illegible] that Father James requested him [illegible] for a location [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] law.

You say [illegible] Bishop [illegible] of [illegible] certificate of [illegible] in [illegible] between [illegible].

[illegible] saying, "We do not believe there is a member of the Conference that wishes for a moment to do the slightest injustice to this worthy veteran of the Cross." Let us see if such is the case by the rule, a tree is known by its fruits, and by thy words thou art justified. Is it Christian or doing no evil to say in open Conference there is nothing against a brother and then in the cabinet to make out the charge of inefficiency? Is it charitable not to say Christian to present such a report as was presented by that committee, having knowledge that it was not true? Is it Christian to state on the Conference floor that a request was made, if it had not been made? Is it charitable to have a brother accused of heterodoxy in an exchange paper and not correct the mistake until a private member calls attention to the fact? All these things have been done and yet you say officially you "do not believe there is a member of the Conference that wishes for a moment to do the slightest injustice to this veteran of the Cross." If they would not do the slightest injustice, for what purpose have these wrongs been perpetrated? Why is it that they have let one session of the Conference pass without one effort having been put forth to make your statement appear as if it were true? It cannot be that the members are unacquainted with their action and the facts in the case, that they have not reconsidered their action if in their power, seeing that he was refused the right of appeal by one of the Bishops.

That innocent gray haired veteran of the Cross has lingered patiently for two years suffering through obedience not to the will of God but to the mandates of Conference and is even dying—at least so far as his influence is concerned—through kindness (?) administered at the hands of his friends (?) and I lay the cause of his death at the door of the Conference. These mistakes must (if not intended), be corrected ere he will drag his manacled limbs up to Conference "in the right spirit," or in any spirit and I am authorized to state emphatically that he will accept no certificate of location, coming in this way. He protests against the wrongs having been done, as in every way unjustifiable by any law, human or divine.

Now as to the mode of reconciliation, I will submit a plan which, as I think is the only way in which he can ever be restored to his former relation. Let the originator of the motion granting him a location (or any member who voted in the majority), go before the Conference in the right spirit and say: "Here, brethren, two years ago I made a motion that Father James be granted a location at his own request, which at the time was made unadvisedly and through misrepresentations. I thought at the time it was for the best, but am now satisfied that the action of the Conference was wrong, and has been the means of doing him great injustice. I would therefore most respectfully, in justice to Father James, move a reconsideration of the action granting him a location." Would such a motion receive a unanimous vote in favor of reconsideration? Can it be possible that Father James has one single malicious or revengeful enemy in the Conference? The Conference, we think, in justice to Father James, would at once place him in his former relation, the shackles would fall from his mangled limbs, the prison doors would fly open and he could then come before the Conference with renewed confidence to answer those charges that were of so heinous a nature that they had to be suppressed from the public. We repeat the sentiment of the text, you have beaten him openly uncondemned, you have cast him into prison, and now do you thrust him out privily? nay, verily; but you yourselves come and fetch him out.

C. H. JAMES.

PORTLAND, OREGON.

Thus having been denied the columns of the religious press for these grievances, we now appeal to the secular press, and shall proceed to state some of the editor's objections to our "rejoinder," as given in the presence of a witness.

First—"It opens up a discussion that would not be likely to soon end." After advising me not to go to war with the Conference he clips my article from the Pacific Methodist, makes his comments, thus opening the war himself and invites discussion by stating that we make grave charges which in the nature of the case cannot be proved. And then rejects our arguments, because they "would open up a discussion that would not be likely to soon end." We claim that in this act he not only inflicts an additional wound but violates an important principle in journalism.

Second—He objects to our word "rejoinder" and claims that we should have confined our self to the statements that had already been made without bringing in additional matter. Now it matters not to us what the editor calls it, whether a "rejoinder," or a reply, for the article partakes of the nature of both, and he can take either horn of the dilemma he sees fit. It does not change the facts, hence we will not stop to discuss technical points in parliamentary usage when there is an important principle at stake.

Third—He objects on the ground that the whole tenure of the article manifests a sour spirit and impugns the motives of the Conference. Now I ask whether we have a cause to manifest a sour spirit after having been denied the right of trial before the Conference when there were grave charges pending, denied the right of appeal by a Bishop, bound hand and foot and thrust into prison for two years, and to heap insult upon injury, denied the columns of a Christian paper for redress? I ask if we have not a cause to impugn the motives of the Conference? The editor of the Advocate admits that all these things have been done, yet rejects the article because the language smells a little sour!

Fourth—He objects to us using personality by bringing in the name of Rev. I. D. Driver. We will now bring in the name of Rev. J. F. DeVore whom reference is made to in the article as the framer of that motion to grant a location, etc., and say that he will not dare not state publicly that he was requested by Father James to make that motion. He is the one that made that motion and stated at the time he made it, that he had known Father James for a long time—had always got along well together, and then went outside of the Conference room and said to one of the members of Father James' family, "he wanted to let the old gentleman off as easy as possible." After the appearance of my article in the Pacific Methodist, he came to me and said, "tell the editor that I want him to fix up that matter with the other Advocate—it is all a pack of nonsense to let the thing go in that shape; there is nothing against Father James and I had it not been for Driver there would have been nothing of this trouble." I then asked him what part of the communication it was that he objected to. His answer was, "I find no fault with the communication." Now I ask whether we have not cause to impugn the motives of these reverend gentlemen? I ask whether Rev. J. F. DeVore was not consulted with reference to the suppression of the above Rejoinder? And now I ask if we have not a right to impugn the motives of the editor of the Advocate for championing the cause of these reverend gentlemen, knowing as he does and admits that the facts contained in the above communication are true? The are the gentlemen that would not do the slightest injustice to this veteran of the Cross (?). If these things be explain, here we go before Conference and [illegible] told [illegible] Let them come and fetch us out.

Fifth—He objects to our plan of reconciliation on the ground that if the Conference committed a mistake in granting Father James a location without his request it might commit the same mistake by moving to reconsider the action of the Conference without his request, and he was not willing to take it at responsibility without something [illegible] evidence that it was really the wish of Father James to be restored. He admits that the Conference made a mistake yet he is not willing for the Conference to rectify its own mistake. He will hand cuff and bail bonds and gag a brother whom he would not do the slightest injustice, and throw him down and then step back on his Christian dignity and say "Come here brother and we will help you up. Come here and thank us for the Christian liberty and privileges you have enjoyed for the last two years, and then we will reconsider the action of the Conference and remove your shackles. Then if anyone has charges of inefficiency and general unacceptability it will be for him to meet them. This is the only true way to remedy the evils of this case. Let this way be fairly tried," says the editor of the Advocate, "and then if refused by the Conference it will be time enough to arraign the Conference or its secretary for uncharitable and unchristian conduct." This is the brother that would not do the slightest injustice to this veteran of the Cross. As he sets himself up as the champion and leader of Oregon Methodism and Christianity I ask again, have we any cause to impugn his motives? Over the action of these brethren (?) the Conference stumbled and we hold it responsible for their acts.

Now, Mr. Editor, and through you to the readers of your paper I appeal: Is this doctrine that he preaches in this case Methodism? Is it Christianity? God forbid. Is the action of these brethren according to the rule of brotherly love, kindness, charity, temperance? we admit that it is in patience and long suffering. By your verdict we stand acquitted or condemned. "They have beaten us openly uncondemned, and cast us into prison; and now do they thrust us out privily? Nay, verily, but let them come themselves and fetch us out." Yours truly, C. H. JAMES.

C. P. R. R. Freight Train Ditched.

ELKO, July 24.—A washout on the C. P. R. R. yesterday, near Osino, nine miles east of here, caused the ditching of a freight train, consisting of an engine and fifteen cars. The express train, which left here for the East at 5:40, was flagged this side of the wreck and returned here until the road is cleared. At 3 P. M., the track being repaired, she started, being delayed 22 hours. The express from the West, due here at 8:15 A. M., arrived at 4:20 P. M. The passengers report the wreck a bad one. The cars are piled on top of each other and some are smashed to pieces. The strangest part of the accident is that no one was killed, and only one man, thought to be a fireman, received injury, and that was only a strain. The accident will cause much loss to the company, but this cannot be estimated until the wreck is cleared up. Rain poured down in torrents all night, or the track would have been repaired much sooner.

Heavy Storm.

EUREKA, July 24.—The storm which for the past few days has been brewing in this portion of the State culminated last night in a repetition of the disaster which visited this place two years ago, though happily the town has so far escaped the effects of the deluge.

TUESDAY MORNING JULY 25 1876

THE OUTLOOK FOR NOVEMBER.

The prospects for the Republicans in the Presidential election grow brighter every day. Governor Hayes by his manly and downright letter of acceptance has added greatly to his popularity while the wavering and uncertain course of Tilden and Hendricks and their apparent timidity about placing themselves squarely before the country on the great question of civil service reform are disheartening their party. We could not from the first imagine it possible that harmony would come of the course pursued by the St Louis Convention. In their anxiety to conciliate all classes, they allowed themselves to be betrayed into the position of a party utterly and palpably devoid of principles or convictions. A hard money candidate and a soft money candidate are placed together on a platform which is as evasive as a set of skillful politicians could make it and now the candidates themselves are unable to agree as to the interpretation which the equivocal document is to receive. Hendricks goes down to Washington city, with his nomination for Vice President in his hand and the cogent argument of the necessity of a party success in his mouth, and demands the repeal of the resumption act as a sine qua non of his acceptance, and Tilden goes home to wait a little and watch the signs of the times before determining whether he would better come out as an inflationist or stand by the colors of the hard money Democracy. Then they arrange a meeting at Saratoga to confer with each other on the situation which ends in nothing and the letter of acceptance, which the equivocal platform and the more equivocal conduct of the candidates have rendered doubly necessary, is postponed—to all appearances indefinitely.

Meanwhile, the dilutionists of Indiana disgusted as they ought to be with the shuffling course of the party to which they have been looking for an open declaration of hostility to specie currency, resolve to give the cold shoulder to the "whole outfit" and support Peter Cooper, the candidate of the beggars' opera, for President, and to run a State ticket of their own on that issue alone. Whatever support this side show obtains will be drawn in the main from the Democratic party. This defection claiming to be strong enough to carry the State, will undoubtedly be strong enough to defeat Tilden and Hendricks in Indiana, and make that State sure for Hayes and Wheeler—if it was not secure in any event.

It is estimated by shrewd calculators in political matters, that Hayes and Wheeler will not need New York, but the unpopularity of Mr Tilden in his own State, an unpopularity which will grow no less as the conflict advances, renders it almost certain that the vote of New York will be given to the Republican candidates, who grow stronger before the people every day.

The proceedings of the St. Louis convention have proved, so far as can be judged thus early, a series of blunders from beginning to end. Both by the platform presented and the candidates nominated, the convention presented the party it represented as a party without principles or convictions, willing to declare any sentiments no matter how much at variance with ancient Democratic ideas, and to support any candidate, no matter how much at war with each other, if only by that means success could be attained. The party managers have abandoned all pretense to principle, and taken the position of small attorneys, whose study is how to deceive the people and get their votes. The statesman has surrendered to the politician. But the people are not so easily gulled as was expected. At first they receive the programme placed in their hands in silence, and then they begin to growl audibly and ominously. There is too much reading done now a days for any party to win by presuming upon the ignorance and playing upon the prejudices of the masses of its voters. The demand for return to specie payments and for administrative reform is founded in the intelligent comprehension of the necessities of the country, and the party that would secure the confidence of the people must deserve it, or, at least, must seem to deserve it. Tilden, aside from his apparent trimming on the currency question, is perhaps the most fit man the party has to lead this campaign, and to fill the office of Chief Magistrate of the Republic. His views on the great questions of the day have been supposed to be sound, and he has made some very decided, though rather spasmodic demonstrations against the corruption which has so permeated official life of late. But he is fooling away his reputation on these matters, and wrecking his chances about as fast as his most cordial enemy could desire. The way public sentiment is tending now the November election may reasonably be expected to end in a defeat to the Democracy such as will have no parallel only in the disastrous rout that overtook the party in 1872.

IN THE MATTER OF PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE.

A friend at McMinnville reads us a very severe lecture for speaking in terms that did not indicate very high respect for Don Cameron, Secretary of War and Tyner the man for whom Postmaster General Jewell was removed. This friend thinks we ought not to "insinuate" anything against these individuals, but should speak out if we have personal knowledge of misdeeds by them or otherwise hold our peace. We should like to ask what personal knowledge our friendly critic has that Ben Butler is an unscrupulous politician or that Belknap's wife received money for post traderships, or that Victoria Woodhull is a woman of bad habits. He has read it, he has heard it, it has come to him just as ninety nine hundredths of all the facts he pretends to know have come to him. If he has read anything of current events he knows that Tyner was one of the crowd who endeavored to impose the infamous Force Bill on the country and would have succeeded but for the efforts of such noble Republicans as Blaine and Edmunds and Christiancy. If he has read anything he knows that Don Cameron has for long years enjoyed the enviable reputation of being one of the most skillful and unscrupulous of that most skillful and unscrupulous set of corruptionists that have hung upon the legislatures at Harrisburg and made Pennsylvania more famous than any other State in the Union for the style of politics that has brought shame upon the nation. He knows also if he has read anything that Don Cameron has no reputation except that which we have mentioned and that since his appointment to wit at the Cincinnati Convention his conduct was exactly in keeping with his previous character. He knows all things just as he knows Victoria Woodhull is a person of peculiar views on social matters just as he knows Hayes is a man of excellent character,—he has heard it and read it and it has become a part of the common stock of knowledge possessed by all intelligent persons. We trust this explanation is sufficient.

President Grant has already pardoned some seven or eight of the officials convicted during Bristow's war against the whisky thieves and it is given out that W O Avery the chief agent of the ring is to be pardoned notwithstanding Attorney General Taft's adverse report on his petition. This last rumor may be untrue, as there are always persons willing to put in circulation rumors to the damage of the President but the pardoning of those already set at liberty does not look well. While the whole country demands that the laws be rigorously executed against corrupt officials while the public service has become so honey combed with bribery that thoughtful people all over the Union view the condition of affairs with an anxiety that is little short of alarm the President releases officials who have been convicted of bribery by juries of the country after full and fair trial in the courts created for that purpose. Such conduct needs explanation. It would seem after all that has been said of the President in connection with the whisky prosecutions, he might well consider his own reputation compromised by pardoning the convicted thieves. But the ways of our President are past finding out.

Edward McPherson in examining the official copy of the Democratic platform, finds that it differs in two important clauses from the platform as actually read and adopted by the convention. The original document adopted by the convention denounced in unqualified terms the resumption clause of the act of January 1875 but in the official copy furnished him that plank is so altered as to make it object only to the time fixed for resumption. The platform adopted demanded that the treaty with China be so modified as to stop Chinese immigration. That clause is left out of the official copy furnished him. These variances may be the result of mistake and not of design, but if innocently made, they are not innocent in their effects as it appears the Democrats are greatly annoyed at their exposure.

The Philadelphia Times says it is reported that Robert Lincoln, only surviving son of the late President Lincoln will stump Illinois for the Democratic national ticket.

The Memphis Avalanche is not a Republican paper but here is some of its admiration for Hayes' letter: "We cannot but frankly admit that it is a brave, strong, national paper. It is braver, better and stronger than the platform of his party. We were inclined to believe that Governor Hayes was a negative character, but there is more positive self assertion shown in his letter than has been exhibited by any candidate for President in the last quarter of a century."

For the treatment of all Diseases of the Blood and Urinary Organs Female Complaints Hysteria, etc. all Diseases of the Brain Epilepsy Paralysis Dimness of Sight etc. Contagious and Skin Diseases Loss of Power Nervous and Physical Debility permatorrhœa Seminal Weakness and all diseases arising from the indiscretion of early youth Gonorrhœa Gleet, Syphilis, Loss of Hair Sore Throat Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism and Gout.

DR. R. PRICE

Having for a number of years made the above maladies the subject of his special study and moreover by long and careful practice modified the treatment used and recommended by such eminent men as Doctors Ricord Lallamond Vardean Videl Wilson and others as applied by them in cold and humid climates so as to exactly suit the altered state of the constitution of persons who have been acclimatized in tropical and semi tropical countries, feels perfect confidence in undertaking the permanent and effectual cure of any of the above diseases of, however long standing or inveterate they may be with a certainty of not only eradicating the disorder but concurrently restoring the entire constitution to perfect health and vigor. The grand peculiarity of

DR. R. PRICE'S

Treatment consist in the unscrupulous rejection of all those deleterious mineral drugs which while they momentarily remove the symptoms poison the blood and permanently fix the disease in the constitution which form the sole panacea of that unscrupulous horde of empirical charlatans who fleece their unsuspecting, but too confiding dupes and for their solid gold requite them with shattered constitutions and unnatural existence and the prospect of an untimely and early grave.

A cure guaranteed in all cases.

TO THE LADIES

Dr Price has devoted much of his time to the study of diseases peculiar to your sex and knowing that you are subject to a great amount of suffering that delicacy on your part in not making it known has a strong tendency to prolong it, as a Physician says, if you consult his treatment being better and far more successful than that usual. K OF ATTORNEY-IN-FACT.
WHOM IT MAY CONCERN ... constituted J. F. ... Attorney in Fact ... te.

...Daily Oregonian.

...DAY MORNING, JULY 25, 1876.

CITY.

DROWNING.—Last evening, ...clock, a sad case of drowning oc- ...at the foot of Salmon street, the unfor- ...victim being the second mate of the City of Sparta, now moored at Pa- ...dock, a young man named Thomas An- ...Anderson, along with several of the ...ship's crew, was indulging in an evening ...bath when the fatal mishap befel him. He ...could not swim, and in order to run no risk ...adopted the precaution to take with him a ...life preserver. Putting on a bathing suit An- ...derson took the preserver and plunged boldly ...into the water. He succeeded very well, pad- ...dling about and keeping himself afloat. At ...length he grew too confident, and unwisely ...thinking he could do without the preserver ...gave it to the steward, who was standing on ...a small scow moored alongside the ship, and ...struck out. Anderson made only a few ...strokes when he began to sink. The steward ...and several other persons who were standing ...on the scow, perceived the danger of his situ- ...ation and threw the preserver to him. But ...as he was away from the ship and ...toward the middle of the river, and ...some several yards distant, the preserver ...fell short, and struck the water just back of ...him, so that in the excitement of the moment, ...he failed to see it. Before anything else could ...be done to him, Anderson sunk from view ...and was seen to rise no more. He had scarce- ...ly disappeared from sight before the steward ...plunged in and dove down as far as possible, ...in the hope that he might yet rescue him, ...but all to no purpose, the poor ...fellow had passed beyond the reach of human ...aid. Grappling irons were procured as ...soon as possible, and the bed of the river ...dragged for some distance. Up to 9 o'clock ...this morning the body had not been recovered. ...He was second officer of the City of Sparta, and was highly esteemed by the cap- tain, his mate and the crew of the ship. He ...was ... of age, unmarried, came from Aberdeen, Scotland, where his father resides. Anderson has two brothers both ...who are in command of ships. He is ...spoken of in the highest terms by his brother officers and the crew, by whom the young man's sad and untimely death is sincerely re- gretted.

...TUG.—Work on the new tugboat ...of Captains Holman and Gilman is ...progressing very rapidly, notwithstanding ...the unavoidable delay resulted from ...the high water. A large force of car- penters is employed, and the ringing of ham- mers makes things decidedly lively in that ... The interior of the hull was planked ...prior to the suspension of work by the freshet, ...and the outside planking is rapidly approach- ...ing completion. Probably the planking will ...be finished to-day. Already the caulkers have ...worked like beavers at their work, and ...has been almost finished. Should no ...accident occur, it is calculated that the new craft ...will be launched within ten days. As soon ...as launched, the machinery, which has been ...made at the Albina Iron Works, will be placed ...in the hull. To-morrow the propeller, which is ...nine feet in circumference and have four ...blades, will be cast. This new tug, when fin- ...ished and ready for service either on the bar ...or between Portland and Astoria, will be sec- ...ond to none in the state in speed and working ...ability.

USEFUL WORK.—Mr. J. R. Robb has laid ...on our table an invaluable work in the form ...of "Mitchell's New General Atlas." This ...new atlas has just been issued from the press, ...and as a source of ready reference, is very con- ...venient and useful. It contains maps of the ...various countries of the world, plans of cities, ...embraced in 79 quarto maps, forming a ...total of 112 maps and plans, together with ...statistical tables; also, a list of the ...cities of the United States and Territories, ...census of 1860 and 1870. The im- ...pressions are on a very fine quality of paper, ...and it is elegantly and attractively bound. ...He is the agent in Portland for the ...work and will soon canvass the city for sub- scribers.

THE SHAFT.—A shaft which will be used on ...N. Co.'s new boat—lately purchased ...Hecannon—was received here a few ...days ago, direct from Wilmington, Delaware. ...lying at the Willamet Iron Works, where ...flanges and cranks are to be attached at ...proper places. This shaft is the largest ...ever brought to the State which will be ...used in connection with a steamboat. It is ...manufactured of the best quality of wrought ...iron, is 22 feet and 4 inches long, 9 inches in ...diameter, and weighs about 3,000 pounds. ...crank weighs in the vicinity of 1,100 ...pounds. This ponderous piece of iron, with ...that properly belongs to it, will be in con- ...dition to put on board the new craft in a few days.

MR. BURNETT COMING.—Under date of San Francisco, July 20th, Mr. Alf. Burnett writes ...he contemplates paying Oregon a pro- ...l visit soon. Mr. Burnett enjoys the ...tion of being one of the greatest facial ...and character personators of the age, ...is spoken of in complimentary terms by ...generally. He will be accompanied ...Helen Nash, a talented and versatile ...reader, and Mr. Percy Williams, the ...Joker. Dan G. Waldron, who visited this city last year with the Alleghani- ...ans (bell ringers) is manager.

THE ASTORIA.—At present the bar tug Astoria ...lies idle, owing to some necessary repairs ...to be made. Constant service has con- ...siderably impaired the piston head and cylin- ...ders, and Capt. Flavel at length con- ...cluded to have the engine overhauled. A ...new piston head, bands and shaft will be ...made at the machine shop. Work has com- ...menced, and in the course of a week or ten ...days the needed repairs will be completed. ...The working capacity of the tug will be ma- ...terially increased by reason of these improve- ments.

...INJURIES.—The latest advices state ...that Mrs. Philbrook, the lady whose collar- ...bone was broken in the railroad accident at ...last Wednesday afternoon, is not ...likely to recover, owing to the fact that her ...collar-bone pressed down into her lungs and ...there until medical attendance was ...had from Oakland. The warm weather, ...it is feared, will prove fatal to Mart Tay- ...lor, who had his forehead cut open and ...jaw broken.

...—His absence is accounted for. ...he gone on a long-time business ...but the fruits of his journey were noth- ...ing more than an increase in stock. This ...shows there is something in it, perhaps "mil- ...lions." The "Oregon Baby" couldn't find ...him here, so he goes off quietly to California, ...and the result may be seen under the usual ...head. "It's hard to love."

FIRE AT ALBANY.—A note from Albany ...Saturday, says: About half past 8 this morn- ...ing an alarm of fire was given, which was ...caused by a small building adjoining O. Fox ...& Co.'s store, discovered to be on fire, but by ...the efforts of the firemen, it was extinguished ...with but little loss. Our chief, Joe Webber, ...had his neck scorched slightly. Albany En- ...gine Co. No. 1 got first water.

PATENTS ISSUED.—Among the patents issued from the U. S. Patent Office at Washington during the week ending July 11th, was one to William Bayhouse, Idaho City, for a lasting machine; one to Thomas W. Irvine, Port Madison, W. T., for an amalgamating appara- tus, and one to F. C. and C. E. Smith of this city, for a process of soldering clamps.

FAST RECOVERING.—We are gratified to state on good authority that the condition of Con- ductor G. M. Sewell, who was so roughly handled at the railroad accident last week, is very hopeful. He is not injured internally at all, as it was feared at first. He is able to be around again, and will be in a condition to resume his old place in a few weeks.

TRADE DOLLARS.—Everybody is in a stew over the reduced value of a trade dollar. There is a growing disposition on the part of all classes to discount the coin ten per cent. While some find it convenient to do so, others, who in most case take them at par, decidedly object to the discount. A mutual understand- ing should be had all around.

COMPLIMENTS.—Messrs. Wilson & Speck have presented this office with fans for each em- ploye, from editor down to the devil. One side of the fan has a portrait of "Little Hatch- et" George, while the other bears the portrait of Martha. It's a good season for fans.

BRIEF NOTES.

Only two arrests made last evening.

The champion sailer Bamboo is out almost daily.

Steamer due this evening, wind and weather favoring.

Page, son of Councilman Stephens, has re- sumed his place in the postoffice.

Special meeting of the Waverly Club Wed- nesday evening, at Wilson's & Speck's store.

Trade dollars, a year ago difficult to get for a dollar each, are now discounted ten per cent. by all classes.

The engines are now being placed in posi- tion on the O. S. N. Co's new steamer, now lying at the bone yard.

The double scull race announced a few days ago is off for the present. There are enough boats and muscle to insure a race weekly.

The new turning lathe, spoken of last week has been set in position at the Willamet Iron Works. It is a magnificent piece of machin- ery.

The locust trees about the city have stood the late freshet without drooping a leaf. The mountain maples have not escaped so fortu- nately.

The steamship Ajax, from San Francisco, due at this port this evening, will bring 68 cabin and 102 steerage passengers, and 700 tons of freight.

The unfortunate drowning of the second mate of the City of Sparta last evening was the occasion of much excitement in and about the Pacific Dock.

From our dispatches this morning it is evi- dent that the government means now to take the bull by the horn, even "Sitting Bull" by the "Little Horn."

The asphaltum pavement in front of the brick building formerly occupied by E. Mil- wain has sunken down several feet. It should be looked after before a serious accident occurs.

Great preparations are being made by parties having in view a trip to Shoalwater Bay by the Gussie Telfair, to see the regatta on the 8th prox. The folks over there may expect a large party.

Grand instrumental concert postponed until Saturday evening. However, the little girls who are to personate the States and Territor- ies in the tableaux will meet for drill to-mor- row evening.

As will be seen by reference to the adver- tisement, the grand instrumental concert to be given by the 21st U. S. Infantry Band at New Market Theater has been deferred until next Saturday evening.

Persons engaged in hauling ballast from the vessels now in port should be compelled to pick up the loose pieces of stone which drop from their wagons. These stones are danger- ous obstructions, and ought not to be allowed to remain scattered about the street.

During the absence of Rev. Dr. A. E. Frid- richsen on a missionary trip, laymen will lead the services in the Scandinavian Evangelical Luthern congregation Sunday evenings in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church. In East Portland the services will be postponed.

EUGENE ITEMS.

Our correspondent at Eugene City, under date of July 23d, sends the following:

Several new buildings are being erected, old ones painted, new sidewalks being laid—proves that our town is still alive.

The rust in the wheat is not as bad as stated last week. In some localities, however, the grain will be injured to a considerable extent.

The young man who was to work three months to prove to his sweetness that he was not "constitutionally tired," is now look- ing pleased and hopeful, two-thirds of the time having expired.

The long talked of Granger store is now in full blast. Saturday was a very busy day with them, Grangers and Grangeresses being on hand to examine the new goods, of which they have a well assorted stock.

Going prospecting seems the order of the day. Several parties left here Friday for the McKenzie country, where, report says, quartz is being found of good quality. Among the prospectors are two American citizens of Afri- can persuasion.

The town seems dull on account of so many of our citizens being out gathering berries and rusticating in the mountains to avoid the ex- treme warm weather. Fishing parties are re- turning well laden with the fine spotted beau- ties, with which our rivers in this county abound, proving they enjoy themselves while out.

BASE BALL.

A game of base ball was played at Milwau- kie last Sunday, between the Athletics of Port- land and the Alerts of Milwaukie. The game resulted in a victory for the Athletics, the score standing: Athletics, 43, Alerts, 25.

The depreciation of trade dollars is the sub- ject of much anxiety among all classes, near- ly everybody look upon them as worth only ninety cents now. They take them at Beck & Waldman's, as many as you can bring at the ruling rate.

The thermometer fell perceptibly last night and the people may rest easier for a spell. You can rest easy after making a purchase at Fishel & Roberts, as you will not be obliged to pay an enormous price for a suit.

While your wife is "summering" take your lunch at Barnes—Central Market.

Is a man a man who he turns into a saloon. Yes a nobleman ... drinks Noble Whisky ... H. Fleckenstein, ... Portland.

Although tubes are used ... the magnificent Tuberose ... der, at "City Floral Park" are all the rage now.

The Centennial is over and our country cousins, as well as the city folks have had an abundance of amusements. All who have paid a visit to Jos. Kohn's clothing house ex- press themselves thoroughly satisfied with the manner in which he treat them.

NOTES FROM SALEM.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

Under date of July 24th, our regular corre- spondent sends the following:

A party of Salemites propose paying Wil- hoit Springs a visit during the ensuing week.

Capital Engine Co. No. 1 were out on drill last evening and although the brakes were not fully manned, the old engine done excel- lent service, throwing a stream one hundred and eighty-five feet and nine inches through one hundred and fifty feet of hose.

Mountain and coastward is the cry. Dan H. Murphy and family have gone to Tilla- mook. A party consisting of W. J. Herron's family, Hon. I. R. Moores family, Albert H. Bertha and Althea Moores, Mrs. E. J. Devine, Mr and Mrs Frank E. Hodgkin and others, will start in the morning for Smith's ferry, on the raging Santiam, where camped out they will remain for the ensuing two weeks.

Geo. H. Jones and family started to-day for the Santiam river, intending to camp out near Smith's ferry during the ensuing ten days. Rev. H. P. Peck, Thos King and family, Mrs. Patterson, R. H. Dearborn and family, J. W. Weatherford, R. B. Conover, S. A. Clarke, N. B. Knight, and their families, are already located in the same neighborhood. Salemites are fleeing to the mountains and coast daily, and the city is correspondingly dull.

The following is the executive committee appointed to make arrangements for the State Teachers' Institute, to meet in this city on the 23d, 24th and 25th of August: Prof. Thos. H. Crawford, Mrs. Blanche G. Patterson, Miss Ellen J. Chamberlin, Mrs. Olive A. England, Miss Mollie Smith, Miss Rose Weller and Miss Ada A. Jones. It is hoped the new capital building may be secured for the occasion, and a highly interesting time is expected.

The target practice of the Capital Guards, which took place last Saturday afternoon, drew a large crowd, it being their first appear- ance as a company in public. The contest took place at the mouth of North Mill creek, the prizes being a silver goblet for the best av- erage, and an immense pair of leather goggles for the worst shot. J. Henry Haas, Esq., do- nated the prizes. Each contestant was al- lowed five shots. John W. Minto acted as scorer, and Col. T. H. Cann as Judge, the de- tachment being under command of Sergeant J. B. Lister. The target, at 200 yards dis- tance, was literally riddled with balls, and Alonzo Gesner, Esq., having made the best average, was awarded the first prize, and H. H. Draper, failing to hit even the target board carried off the goggles.

THE COURTS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.

State vs William Wyman; defendant with- draws his plea of not guilty as charged in the indictment, and enters a plea of guilty of sim- ple larceny, sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs, and in default be confined in the county jail for a period of fifty days.

Elizabeth Johnson vs George W. Johnson sheriff allowed to amend his return on the ex- ecution herein.

Danforth Balch vs H. C. Leonard et al submitted and taken under advisement.

Elizabeth Johnson vs George W. Johnson, upon the return of the sheriff on the execu- tion heretofore issued herein, and upon all the papers and records herein, the plaintiff moves the court for leave to issue an uncon- ditional and absolute execution against the property, personal and real, of the defendant, to make the judgment in this cause, with costs and disbursements; order that execution be issued.

CORNS AND BUNIONS

Dr. Halpruner is now with the band con- nected with the Italian circus. He will pay attention to those desiring his services at points on the route.

W. L. ADAMS, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice mixed with a little common sense. His treat- ment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous pa- tients will attest. Is extraordinarily success- ful in treating female complaints.

HAIR RESTORED.

If any who are skeptical of the ability of Mrs. S. Lord to produce a crop of new hair in all stages of baldness will call or write to her at her rooms in National Bank building, Port- land, she will refer them to several prominent Portland gentlemen who three months since placed themselves under her treatment and are now in possession of a crop of new fine hair which is rapidly increasing in strength and vigor. Itching of the scalp and falling hair checked readily. Preparations sent to all parts of Oregon and Washington.

A LETTER.

DR. WIGHTMAN—Dear Sir: Since using your "Process" I have been entirely free from the HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES, and with the ex- ception of two or three times I have never felt any symptoms of them, then it was entirely my own fault. God knows I have had reason to feel thankful for the great good your VALUA- BLE REMEDY has been to me. Yours truly,

J. M. BACON, P. M.,
Oregon City.

The WIGHTMAN PROCESS will be sent to par- ties living at a distance, C. O. D., by Express. Rooms on Third street, between Washington and Alder. Letter enclosing stamp will be promptly answered. Postoffice box 247, Port- land, Oregon. DR. C. F. WIGATMAN.

NOTICE.

The undersigned in taking leave of Portland re- turns his sincere thanks for the liberal patronage that has been bestowed and would bespeak for his successors a continuance of the same.

Both DRS. BARBER & NICKLIN are gentlemen in every way competent and worthy of any confi- dence that may be placed in them, and as such I can conscientiously recommend them to my former friends and patrons.

Hay sells from wagons at Albany for $8 to $10 per ton.

The plumber and gas fitter has completed his contract on the State House.

Marion county has let the contract for building a poor house for $2,975.

Albany is to have the meeting of the State grange in September, but has no hall of suf- ficient capacity.

S. B. Gale brother of the Gales well known in newspaper circles in Oregon, and who is in the same business himself in Pennsylvania has spent several months in this State, and will return to his old home in a short time. Mr. Gale represents a large colony, and will probably return and settle permanently with us. He takes some specimens of hay and grain back with him to show to the people of the East.

The collegiate year for 1876-77 of the Wil- lamette University will commence the first Monday in September next, with the follow- ing corps of teachers: T. M. Gatch, President and Professor of Mental and Moral Philoso- phy, L. J. Powell, Professor of Mathematics and Natural Science, Emily Shattuck, Pre- ceptress and teacher of Modern Languages, Ellen J. Chamberlin, teacher in Academical Department. Blanche G. Patterson, teacher of Instrumental Music. The rates of tuition range from $8 to $13 per term.

On Friday of last week, as we learn from the Mercury, a lad named Wm. Lewis, aged about 14 years, was let down into a well being dug on the premises of Wm Stanton, near Sublimity, Marion county. The well was 40 feet deep and no person had been in it for three or four days. When young Lewis was in it a few moments he called out that he was sleepy and asked to be drawn up. Those at the windlass attempted to draw him up but he had lost the power to hold on and fell into the bottom. His brother went down after him, but he too inhaled the noxious gas and had to be drawn out before he could save the unfortunate victim. After about two hours Wm Lewis body was recovered. This is an- other sad warning to men who are working in cess pools, wells or other excavations in the ground. It is always the best and the only safe way to make some test before going down into them.

The Rebellion of the Stomach.

The stomach obstinately rebels against all efforts to make it digest superabundant or indigestible food. When a fit of dyspepsia has been brought on by over-indulgence in the pleasures of the table or any other cause, the invalid can obtain from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters prompter and more complete relief than from any other source. This admirable specific not only renders digestion active but regulates the secretion and distribution of the bile, re establishes a regular habit of body when costiveness exists, restores the appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, and, if taken before re tiring, facilitates sleep. Under these happy con- ditions, the dyspeptic or bilious subject regains lost flesh, his spirits recover their elasticity, and all the various and harassing bodily and mental symp toms of chronic indigestion disappear.

Dentist's ware is a poor substitute for Nature's. Let those who so believe, use the SOZODONT, which if daily applied, will prevent all necessity for false teeth by keeping the real ones sound and healthy.

A SLIGHT EXPOSURE IN BAD WEATHER, when the system is out of order, often brings on a Stub- born Cold; the attending Cough irritates the Lungs, and if not promptly treated, frequently develops a tendency to tuberculous condition. To avoid this danger, those troubled with colds should resort at once to Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant, which soon loosens and eradicates Coughs, soothes and heals inflamed parts, and removes all anxiety by setting the patient on the way to good health once more.

LETTER FROM STREET COMMISSIONER

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Since the high water the people seem to be at a stand still, in regard to the streets. In all probability A is waiting to see what B and C thinks best. If such is the case, we write this, hoping it may have a tendency to move the people, so as to get their concerted opinion and wish. We find in many cases, where from the worn and rotten condition of the streets in the flooded district, since being dis- turbed by the action of the water, they have been left in a dilapidated and dangerous con- dition. Now to find out what is best to do, is the question. Taking into consideration the imperfect grade, or rather, the necessity of raising the grade, we are left at a loss to know what is best to do. If we repair, as should be done, the cost will amount to at least one half the price of new work, and to do new work on the present grade is another question. In some instances, it seems that it would be better where nothing short of the price of new work will place the streets in a condition so as to make them safe for a few years, it would be as well to cause all the old lumber to be removed and let travel be on the ground. By this course many accidents might be avoided, and if such portion be- come impassable in winter, it might be abandoned, as other portions are. Then, should the grade be changed, whenever deem- ed expedient, the improvements might be brought to grade by macadamizing. Let us look at the cost of planking and macadam- izing and the duration of the same.

Planking the usual way costs from 50 to 60 cents per square yard, and lasts from three to eight years, depending on the locality. Macadamizing can and will be done at a cost from 60 to 75 cents per square yard, and will last from 25 to 100 years, taking locality into consideration. Now what is best to do? It is time to come to some conclusion.

Another question—What do the people expect to accomplish by trimming their deaf trees? You had as well plant a sawlog with the expectation of raising a sawmill from it as to expect your trees to live when killed from the root.

THE RECOMPENSE.

"The loss, if loss there be, is mine
And yet not mine if understood,
For one shall grasp and one resign,
One drink life's rue and one its wine
And God shall make the balance good."
—J. G. Whittier, in "The Waiting."

O grand old poet! thou wouldst teach
Our weary hearts to be content.
To mourn not things beyond our reach,
To grieve not over summers spent.

When bound, and chafing 'neath the thrall
Could we but make our own the voice,
The loss of one is not of all—
Though we may suffer, some rejoice.

But in the darkness and the cloud,
When shadows gather at our feet
Our human nature, weak but proud,
Rebels and cries, "Can this be meet?"

Ah! troubled heart could we but see
God's purpose, changeless, kind and true,
And know as He knows, what shall be,
Could we but have the end in view

This may not be, yet let us learn
To trust not in our blinded sense
Our murmurings and doubts to spurn,
Awaiting His sure recompense. H.

THE TERRITORIES.

Salt lake papers say that 10,000 miners have left Utah this season to assist in the San Juan excitement.

Colorado produces $15,000 in silver for every 24 hours, $10,000 in gold and $1,000 in other minerals, or $26,000 daily, equal to $7,008,000 yearly.

The skating rink at Seattle is undergoing changes which will convert it into a neat little theater, with all the appointments necessary for the proper rendition of the drama.

Our Helena exchanges say the people of Eastern Montana are arming themselves for protection against the Indians, who are quite saucy and numerous in that section of the Territory.

Congress has failed to make the appropriation large enough into $3,500 to defray the legislative expenses of Idaho Territory for the coming year. The members can only be partially paid.

There will be no surveys of public lands in Idaho this year. The usual appropriation failed in the House but was put in in the Senate; but the conference committee had to drop it out, so no appropriation whatever is made.

Indians living 1,500 miles west of the Big Horn, are said to have received the news of Custer's defeat as soon as the whites, but their information came through Indian channels. Their system of telegraphy, although crude, is equal to the white man's harnessed lightning.

One of those charming zephyrs that roam up and down Wyoming, seeking whom they may devour, caromed on the Fourth of July celebration at Laramie, and furnished the Sentinel with this chapter of accidents: While the exercises were going on, a little whirlwind struck the ladies' stand, lifting the awning with the scantling attached to it, and dropping it over on the track among the horses and carriages. Mr. Downey was struck on the head and considerably stunned. Mr. Fillmore was struck on the forehead and a ragged wound inflicted, which extended up into the scalp. The accident came near proving serious, if not fatal, to Miss Mary Lane, an interesting daughter of Colonel Lane, of Fort Sanders. A scantling from the top of the awning struck her in the side, inflicting a painful injury, and nearly proving of a very dangerous character.

WHAT REBELDOM IS DOING.

HILLSBORO, July 21, 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Why do not the editors understand, and show their readers, what rebeldom is doing in the [illegible] of [illegible] the "resumption act?" Since Blaine "settled the Confederate Congress," to proclaim its platform for their next war with the government, namely, "to fight the government within the government," and, since their special labor for destroying the resumption act, it has seemed to me, that it was easy to see what they are at. The object of the "old Confederates," whether in Congress, or out of Congress, whether making law, or making [illegible], in this "unconditional repeal of the resumption act," is so clear their cover for their proposed future work. This future work is the "pooling" of the two currencies,—the expenses of the war as bearing on the North and on the South. When they shall have summed up all the expenses, embracing the value of every slave, then they fondly expect to say to Congress, now, pay the whole bill of all this "unpleasantness," or repudiate the whole as you may please. Let every one of us then, in voting for President remember, we are voting for the payment or non-payment of the slaves and the Southern war debt. Now to be hung, and pay forty shillings—the rope and hangman's fee [illegible] Confederates don't believe in. Nor are they going to do it, if they can help it. And this pooling of the currencies is their way out of it.

Now I do not put in much claim for being a prophet, but if any shall regard the above as being my prophecy, I am willing to risk my reputation on it anyhow. Yours truly,

J. S. GRIFFIN.

The New York Commercial and Shipping List has an able article on money and business, which touches the very root of the causes that have produced the present dull times. It says:

"For the best part of three years there has been a glut of money in the leading financial centers that in the expressive language of the street, it has been a drug at an average of about three per cent. on call and four to six per cent. on strictly first class paper. In point of fact it has been impossible to fully employ the available supply of funds even at these low rates. It has not been for lack of money, then, that business has dragged so feebly during these three years; and if it has not been for want of money how is the repeal of the resumption act, with the view of renewed inflation, to remedy the difficulty? If there is more money than business can employ already, how can it employ more until the causes which limit the use of the present supply are removed? There are hosts of men who want money, it is true, and who would be glad to borrow it, but it is not to such concerns that capital is accessible. * * * * The country having passed through a long period of excessive speculation and general prodigality and commercial overaction, of both enterprise and expanded credit, it has for the last three years been suffering the logical sequences. From these results it is now slowly recovering, but quite as rapidly as could have been expected, taking into consideration the severity of the shock."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

Currency Exchange on New York ½ per cent. premium.

When there is a condition of dullness in trade when factories are closed and mills are idle when ships lie at the wharves and improvements languish, the cause generally assigned is a stringency in the money market, and the circulating medium of a country, be it metallic or paper, is called the lubricator of the wheels of commerce —a homely simile, but one which many people take as conveying a correct idea of the relation of money to business. Figures collected during the recent and we might say the still existing depression, seem to contradict entirely the theory that when money is plentiful, commerce flourishes and the times are prosperous. At all the great banking centers of the country there is an abundance of money not withstanding three and one half million of dollars of legal tenders and national bank notes have been withdrawn from circulation each month for 18 months. Since the panic of 1873, when so many lost faith in the currency of the country and each other, enterprise has been weakened, manufacturing has been abridged, the millions that were afloat, building railroads and stocking them, have gradually drifted back to the coffers of the capitalists and the coffers of the great banks. Wealth hoarded ceases to be of any more use or value. Hence we see the present state of things. In most of the centers of trade there are no data from which even approximate ideas may be derived of the growth or increase of business but in cities where well organized bodies for this purpose exist a tolerably correct knowledge on the subject may be obtained. From January 11 1876 to July 1, 1876 the currency of the nation decreased $20,000,000 [illegible]. If it were possible to ascertain definitely the shrinkage in values—since September, 1873—of real estate and the various goods and chattels belonging to the people of the United States the world would be still more astonished. Figures show that New York, Boston Chicago, St Louis, Cincinnati Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New Orleans transacted less business by $2,28[illegible] during the six months ending June 30—this year—than they did during the same months of 1875. The falling off of business in these eight cities in six months exceeds the entire national debt. But the trade of Philadelphia and New Orleans are not included in the deficient cities, for their trade has increased. The deficit, consequently, has been the more appalling as it aggregates more than two billions and a quarter in the other six cities.

There can be no doubt that to a less extent the same condition of affairs prevails on the Pacific coast. Our San Francisco exchanges note the fact that money is plentiful and trade much less in volume than the monetary supply would support. In our own city capital is offering at as low rates as have ever prevailed here with but few borrowers, business being in that anomalous state in which men are afraid to venture on important enterprises or make large investments.

Wheat and Tonnage.

To witness the price of wheat gradually depreciating and at the same time, tonnage rates tending upward is certainly a discouraging outlook for the producers of this country. Yet this seems to be the state of the case at present. The latest charters reported from San Francisco were made at £3 5s to £3 10s, and some vessels are demanding as high as £4 from that port for Liverpool. Wheat at the same time was selling at $1 52½ alongside ships at San Francisco. A writer in the Post of that city, who dates his letter in the interior, says:

The situation, as I understand it, is briefly stated about as follows: Sixty days ago ships here and to arrive were going begging at £2 10@2 15 to Liverpool. At these rates parties desiring to secure a cargo of wheat for shipment to that port could have paid the farmer $1 65@1 67½ per cental, at which price a great many would have been satisfied to sell, as at these figures they can generally make a fair profit on their crops. But this opportunity was denied to them by the ring. For the moment they had succeeded in chartering all the ships in sight, rates of freight were advanced to £3 7s 6d and to £3 10s—rates that mean $1 45@1 50 to the farmer for his wheat; for at the above freight, orders from Liverpool on the present market cannot be filled except the wheat can be bought and placed on board at a cost not to exceed $1 50 per cental. This ($1 50) is about the cost of production, so if the farmer is forced to sell at that figure by reason of a monopoly of ships, he has his entire year's labor for nothing. But for once, the ring have not got it all their own way, for naturally enough ranchers are not anxious to ship their wheat to market to be sold at these ruinous rates, and as a consequence the arrivals are so light—what little there is coming forward is going in most cases to store—that vessels now loading will find it very difficult to complete cargo before their lay days expire. Indeed it is generally conceded that a great many of the July fleet will be on demurrage, and as there is a heavy fleet chartered to load in August I am satisfied that if ranchers will quietly hold back their crops for three or four weeks longer that the ring will be glad enough to pay them $1 65 per cental and call it even.

Although we do not believe all the statements contained in the above are true, nevertheless the farmers and shippers of Oregon will be in a situation to make the most of it, if the supposed rise should take place, as but little Oregon wheat will be ready for the market before the 10th of August. We hear of but few offers being made now, either to buy or sell, some shippers refusing to name any figure above $1 35, but the farmers, as far as we learn, in this State, have not fixed on any definite rate.

Trade Matters.

To-day have developed no new features of importance. Business men generally adhere to the proposition to receive trade dollars only at the regular discount, and as a good deal of this kind of coin has found its way into circulation here there is occasionally a good deal of trouble with it.

The farmers are now too busy with the preparations for harvest to pay much attention to the markets, and with light receipts of domestic products, prices are steady at our former quotations, though shippers say that the wheat market is not likely to open at more than $1 35 per cental. Wool is about the only exception to small receipts and this commodity is coming forward in considerable volume, and we note the fact that Oregon wool is quoted in the San Francisco market at about the same figures that are paid here.

Ordinance No. 1793.

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR LIGHTING and keeping in order the street oil lamps

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1 The Committee on Streets and Public Property are hereby authorized and directed to advertise for, receive proposals and enter into contract with the lowest responsible bidder for furnishing oil wicks burners and chimneys, and keeping in order the street oil lamps for the term of one year subject to the following conditions. The number of lamps required to be lighted under such contract shall not at any time be reduced to a less number than one hundred but the Council may at any time reduce the number of lamps to be lighted under said contract to that number.

All of the oil lamps now erected or to be erected during the year, and required to be lighted under such contract shall be put in good order with proper burners and other necessary fixtures before being placed in the hands of the contractor.

The contractor to furnish a good quality of coal oil or kerosene and from time to time as may be required replace all chimneys, burners etc., with articles of the same size and quality.

He shall keep the fountains and all connected therewith in good repair, keep the wicks well trimmed and keep clean the fountains, lanterns, burners and posts.

He shall light and keep lit with a good and sufficient light all of said lamps during the hours specified in the list known as the schedule of time for lighting the street oil lamps, filed in the Auditor's office, July 18, 1876 and at the expiration of his contract deliver up the fountains, burners and everything connected therewith in good order and condition.

Section 2 Said contract shall contain a provision to the effect that for any failure to light or keep lit any lamp or lamps in said contract during any of the hours specified in said list caused by the negligence or carelessness of the contractor he shall forfeit pay therefor and an additional amount equal to one tenth of the monthly contract price for lighting such lamp for each and every night of such failure.

Also to provide for cancelling such contract upon the failure of the contractor to furnish a good and satisfactory light.

Section 3 He shall give a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $2,500 for the faithful performance of his contract.

Passed the Common Council July 19, 1876

W. S. CALDWELL
Auditor and Clerk.

Approved July 20 1876
